Newsletter: Summer 2011

The AHCT Symposium and the Chamizal National Memorial XXXVI Annual Siglo de Oro Drama Festival, March 2-6, 2011.

Cordial greetings from the President and the Board of Directors of the Association for Hispanic Classical Theater. This issue of the newsletter contains, among other items: highlights of the Association's March Symposium; notes from the meetings of the board of directors and the general membership at that conference; news on recent and upcoming conferences and performances; and a call for papers for the 2012 Symposium of the AHCT in El Paso.

This year's Symposium included twenty-two sessions and over sixty speakers. The Donald T. Dietz Keynote Address, entitled "El médico de su honra y los inicios de la Compañía Nacional de Teatro Clásico," was delivered by eminent Golden Age theater scholar Luciano García Lorenzo of the Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas of Madrid. Dr. García Lorenzo has authored, edited, or co-edited numerous books, including Autoras y actrices en la historia del teatro español, El figurón: texto y puesta en escena, La criada en el teatro español del Siglo de Oro, El teatro clásico español a través de sus monarcas, Diccionario de la comedia del Siglo de Oro, La construcción de un personaje: el gracioso, El teatro de Guillén de Castro, and La novela del siglo XIX. In addition, Dakin Matthews and Anne McNaughton gave a plenary workshop entitled "Andak's Performance of Capulets and Montagues," in which they discussed their new production, which Anne directed and Dakin translated from Lope's Castelvines y Monteses. A third special session, "Power Moves: Music, Dancing, and Fencing in Comedia's Performance Score," got participants out of their seats to learn to move like the professionals do. Grover Wilkins III, Director of the Orchestra of New Spain, Nena Couch of Ohio State, and Ian Borden from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln provided an exciting workout for eyes, ears, and feet. No injuries were reported.

In addition to the Andak production, the Chamizal's 2011 Festival included performances of Jazz Club Polonia, adapted from Calderón's La vida es sueño, by EdeStreno of Badajoz, Spain; Peribáñez, based on Lope's masterpiece, by Los Barracos from Madrid; Señor Quijote Mío, based on Cervantes' classic novel, by Perro Teatro of Mexico City; and Tirso's El Burlador de Sevilla, by the Escuela Nacional de Arte Teatral, from Mexico City.

Stage News

Laurence Boswell, newly appointed Artistic Director of the Ustinov Studio Theatre at the Theatre Royal, Bath, England, plans to stage another mini series of Spanish Golden Age plays at the Studio Theatre to commemorate Lope's 450th birthday. The series, like the one he mounted for the RSC in 2004, will consist of three works newly translated for the occasion, to be announced shortly. The cycle will run from mid-September to late December, 2012. The AHCT is considering co-sponsoring a mini-conference at the site.

Dakin Matthews was recognized as the AHCT's first "Distinguished Member" at his plenary session at the March Symposium, for the outstanding work he has done in translating Spanish Golden Age drama in rhymed verse and in staging plays with his Andak company in Los Angeles.

Matthew Stroud's translation of Calderón's La dama duende, The Phantom Lady, was performed by X Repertory Theater Company (www.xrtc.org), directed by Aaron Ganz, in Los Angeles, May 13-29, 2011. Featuring ballet choreography, it received positive reviews.

Notes from the AHCT Board of Directors and General Meetings, March 2 and 4, 2011.

Election Results. David Hildner and Jason Yancey were newly elected to the Board. Board members Isaac Benabu, Gwyn Campbell, Donald Larson, Barbara Mujica, and Amy Williamsen were re-elected to three-year terms. Chris Gascón has been elected Recording Secretary, and the following officers were re-elected for one-year terms: Bob Johnston, President; Susan Paun de García, First Vice-President; Ángel Sánchez, Second Vice-President; and Sharon Voros, Treasurer.

Treasurer's Report. Sharon Voros reported that the current balance in the AHCT checking account was $10,484.29, while the balance of the Everett W. Hesse Fund was $35,987.18. Income since the last report was $14,796.96, and expenditures were $17,221.96. The amount held in reserve for grants was $1,345, and the total assets of the Association were $46,471.47.

Chamizal Festival. Park Superintendent Catherine Light reaffirmed the Chamizal's commitment to their premiere activity, the Siglo de Oro Festival, and indicated that funding appears stable for next year's events. Outreach Director Dora Martínez noted that theater companies traveling long distances could use another stop or two besides the Chamizal, and that if our educational institutions could host additional performances by visiting groups, it would facilitate their participation in the festival.

Comedia Performance.

Editor Barbara Mujica reported that Jonathan Thacker has been selected as a new member of the journal's editorial board, and Gwyn Campbell is the new managing editor. The new web site, www.comediaperformance.org, has been created by Patricia Soler, and includes the first five issues.

Video Library.

The remainder of the video archive will be moved from the University of Arizona to Grand Valley State, Michigan, under Jason Yancey's supervision. Many new videos and this year's Chamizal productions are available for rental through www.comedias.org. Mindy Badía and Robert Turner continue their work on a searchable database of all of the archive's holdings.

AHCT website. Laura Vidler and a team of student assistants have made great progress in upgrading the design of the website and the merging of the functions of the comedias.org and eChapters sites.

The plays that will make up the Chamizal Golden Age Drama Festival, held in conjunction with the annual symposium, have yet to be determined, but as soon as they are known an announcement will be made on the AHCT website.
